Peer Tutoring Program

The mission of the Peer Tutoring Program is:
to create active, confident, independent learners

The goals of the Peer Tutoring Program are to provide students:
- opportunities to solve problems or discuss challenging concepts
- a comfortable environment in which to interact and ask questions
- opportunities to reinforce/apply material
- opportunities to explore other possible outcomes or processes

Therefore, to accomplish our mission, tutors MUST NOT:
- simply provide information and assume understanding
- re-teach course material
- simply give students the answers
- obstruct the learning process by dominating the tutoring session

Our Tutoring Philosophy
Because students can benefit from a tutor’s academic experience as well as their knowledge and understanding of course content, we encourage tutors to embrace a 'holistic' approach to helping students by engaging fully all aspects of the learner--mind, body and spirit. Put another way, we tutor the student, not just the course. Or, as BASF might say, “we don’t make the student, we make the student better.”
Peer Tutors complement the professor’s work with students during tutoring sessions. During individual sessions, peer tutors help students understand their strengths and weaknesses regarding the subject matter and provide tips to improve their academic skills. Tutors are to contact students individually prior to their scheduled appointment to discuss the topic of the session.

Peer Tutors must have competency in the chosen subject matter by earning at least a “B” in the course and obtaining professor recommendation. Additional competencies necessary are time management, study skills, listening, communication, and interest in helping students. Peer Tutors must also have a minimum overall 3.25 GPA.

All tutors attend a tutor orientation program at the beginning of the semester and advanced training sessions as required throughout the semester.

The tutoring position requires a commitment of 7 to 10 hours of available tutoring sessions per week. Tutors maintain appointment data in TutorTrac.

Each week, tutors enter “appointment availabilities” in TutorTrac that accommodate both personal schedules and those of the courses they are tutoring. Tutors schedule seven to ten hours of availability per week on a by appointment only basis. Availabilities can be listed 7 days a week, 8 a.m.—10 p.m. in a variety of campus locations. Tutors are not to reschedule sessions with students.

Tutors earn $10.00 per hour. Tutors are paid for tutoring sessions, meetings, and administrative duties.

The rewards of tutoring extend beyond pay. As tutors collaborate with students, faculty, and professional staff, they enter new roles with everyone involved in the campus learning community. Their potential for graduate school acceptance improves as does their opportunities for receiving teaching assistantships once enrolled in graduate school. Tutors get a good review of basic material in their discipline which can be useful in preparing for the GRE.
