How to Work a Career Fair

The relaxed and friendly "open house" format of a career fair makes it easy to explore career options, develop a network of career contacts, identify job openings, and even land an interview in a short amount of time. Here are some quick tips designed to maximize your success.

Preparing for a Career Fair

Clarify your goals. What do you hope to get out of the Career Fair: Information about employers? A chance to meet a representative from a particular company? An overview of the job market? Make sure your expectations are consistent with the purpose of the event.

Research the companies in advance. Review the list of attending employers. Identify those that are looking for candidates with your qualifications. Read any information available about the company. Write down a few questions about the organization that you can ask the representative. On the day of the career fair, pick up additional material, find a quiet corner, and study it in more detail.

Prepare a one-minute introduction about yourself. In addition to stating your name, school, major, and the type of position you seek, you should express why you are interested in the organization or field. Briefly relate your background to what you know about the employer's needs. Practice your introduction until you feel comfortable with it. This will make you feel and appear more confident, organized, and focused.

Bring your resume. Make sure you have enough copies of your resume—between 20 and 30 is usually sufficient. Be sure to include phone number and e-mail address on resume.

Prioritize your time. Take a few minutes before you enter the room to review the list of attending companies. Highlight and prioritize those you are most interested in so you can organize your time efficiently. Instead of standing in line to talk to a particular employer, circulate and come back later.

First impressions are lasting impressions. Dress and act professionally. As always, good grooming is essential. Avoid anything distracting, like too much jewelry, heavy makeup, heavy perfume or a messy hairstyle. For business occasions, the look should be tailored. Walk confidently with good posture. Make direct eye contact and shake hands firmly.

Market yourself. Consider the career fair as "round one" of a job interview. Show interest and enthusiasm by smiling and speaking clearly. Have a positive greeting: "Hello, I'm Chris Smith. I'm a management major and will graduate in May. I'm glad to see your company here and would like to ask you about....."

Ask appropriate questions. Increase your knowledge of industry trends, job options, career paths, training programs and other information that can help you make a wise career decision. Answer questions clearly and concisely. There may be many people in line behind you, so you don’t want to take up too much time. Concise answers also show that you are well prepared. Save your questions on salary and fringe benefits until you are further along in the interview process. Ask if they are collecting resumes and ask for a business card because you will want to follow up on interesting leads. Thank them for their time. Do not just collect give-a-ways—take information, too.

Broaden your focus. You may miss out on possible opportunities if you pass up an employer because of preconceived ideas. Many technical firms offer non-technical positions, and vice-versa. You’ll be surprised by how many employers are looking for candidates with a solid liberal arts background, and internship or co-op experience.

Follow Up. Since you have business cards and company information, you can write individualized follow-up letters (include another copy of your resume) to appropriate employers, expressing your continuing interest. If you can, mention something you discussed in your conversation at the career fair.

Teach For America is the national corps of outstanding recent college graduates and working professionals – of all academic majors, backgrounds and career interests – who commit two years to teach in urban and rural public schools and become lifelong leaders for expanding educational opportunity for all children. Each year, Teach For America selects a diverse corps of individuals who have the skills and commitment to make a real impact on the academic prospects of students growing up today in low-income communities, and to exert long-term leadership in the effort to eliminate educational inequity. Teach For America trains all corps members during a rigorous pre-corps summer training program; places them as teachers with full salary and benefits in urban and rural public schools; and continues to support them through a two-year professional development program to ensure their success as teachers and beyond.
